Becoming Director of the world famous Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders at just 24, Kelli McGonagill Finglass quickly distinguished herself as a savvy entrepreneur and successful brand manager. Since wearing the uniform herself, Finglass has been a fierce guardian of the DCC brand and has become a highly recognized and prominent role model for women both on and off the field. A native of East Texas, Kelli grew up in Lindale, Texas, and her small town roots often come through in her direct, no-nonsense approach to shaping and developing an elite group of world class performers.

Kelli often challenges her team to "Go Big or Go Home," and her professional career has been built on that mantra. As a Director of the DCC, Kelli has cultivated lucrative corporate sponsorships and developed innovative merchandising programs and products to build the organization into a well-recognized international brand.
